

NEWARK WATER WORKS BONDS ARE SOLD AT PRIVATE SALE FOR $310,150

Flurry in Council Is Caused by the Announcement.

Auditor and Solicitor Took the Bonds to City of Cleveland.

MORE LITIGATION NOW TALKED OF

Solicitor Smythe Defends Action Taken by Officials While Flory & Flory Representing the Opposition Attack It--What Both Sides Say.

SOLICITOR SMYTHE CLAIMS

That the sale of the $300,000 water works bonds at private sale was the only feasible way out of the difficulty, to secure the "whip hand" for the city instead of giving it to the water company.
That the sale is perfectly legal in every respect.
That it is the best bond sale in the history of Newark, though the rate of interest is lower.
That the premium paid is a handsome one ($10,150) and as much as could have been secured.
That the water company was back of the suit he was asked to bring enjoining the public sale.

FLORY & FLORY CLAIM

That the water works bond sale is illegal and that thousands of dollars of the city's money was thus given away.
That there was no court order dissolving the injunction against the issue of bonds.
That bonds had not been advertised 30 days as required by law, but only 29 days.
That they could not be sold privately until they had been offered at public sale, and they were not offered at public sale owing to injunction proceedings.
That one Newark bank had offered twice the premium received at private sale made to Cincinnati and Cleveland firms.

The $300,000 worth of the municipal bonds of the city of Newark, for the purpose of erecting a new water works system, were sold Monday at private sale by Mayor A. J. Crilly, City Auditor F. T. Maurath and City Solicitor Phil B. Smythe, Rees R. Jones and Jos. R. Moser, members of the finance committee.

The bonds were delivered in Cleveland by Solicitor Smythe and Auditor Maurath who returned to Newark with the money $316,527, Monday evening. Of the sum $10,150 is premium and $6,377 accrued interest. The bonds being dated July 1, 1904.

This fact was foreshadowed by The Advocate on Monday evening, and the prophecy was confirmed by the report of the finance committee which was read in council meeting Monday evening.

The report was in substance as follows: "On the 17th day of December the finance committee, the mayor and city auditor met in joint session, and a proposition offered by Dennison, Pryor & Co., of Cleveland, and Seasongood & Meyer, of Cincinnati, to purchase the issue of $300,000 bonds, for par with accrued interest from date of sale, with a premium of $10,150, was accepted and the bonds were sold and delivered to them."

When the report was read dead silence prevailed in the chamber. Members of council and spectators alike were almost taken off their feet by the boldness of the officials in thus selling the bonds secretly and at private sale. Member Rees R. Jones moved the adoption of the report which was signed by himself and J. R. Moser. The other member of the finance committee, W. E. Miller, had not signed the report. Mr. Miller was in New York when the meeting was held.

Judge Hunter was on his feet in an instant and moved that the Jones motion be tabled, which was lost by the following vote: To table motion, Conrad, Hunter, Miller; against tabling motion, Jones, Carlile, Moser.

Mr. Jones then got up and spoke in favor of his motion to adopt the report, saying that what he had done was in a spirit of honesty and fair dealing.

Judge Hunter received recognition and said:

"This is the most singular case I have ever heard of. The solicitor goes into court and asks for an injunction to prevent the sale of bonds, which is granted. Two days later he goes into court and the case is dropped. The finance committee, the mayor, solicitor and clerk then secretly sell the issue without any authority of the council and without the knowledge of several members of the finance committee, from whom this report purports to come. This council has certain functions, one of which is to take care of the finances of the city, and I don't like the looks of this sale at all."

Solicitor Smythe then explained his position by saying: "I was served with a notice from a taxpayer to bring a suit for an injunction. I answered that I would bring the suit but that he must furnish me with sufficient facts to maintain it. He wanted me to allege in the petition as one of the principal grounds for the injunction that the bonds would not have been advertised 30 days on December 15, the day on which the bids were to have been opened. I never did take any stock in this allegation and it appeared to me utter foolishness."

"But I began the suit, which I have every reason to believe was instigated by the water works company. I did this because had I allowed the taxpayer to bring it there would have been a great deal of delay. The allegations I made in the petition I did not believe myself and so stated in open court."

Judge Hunter: "Who swore to the petition, Mr. Smythe?"

Solicitor: "I did, not as an individual, but in my official capacity."

Judge Hunter (impatiently): "Will you tell me how a man can swear except as an individual?"

Mr. Smythe did not answer this query, but launched forth into a defense of the sale, stating that it was the best in the history of municipal financing in Newark; that the premium of $10,150 was a handsome one, and that this was the best bond sale the city had ever made. The $58,157 5 per cent bonds sold last spring brought a premium of $4,400.

Mr. Jones then stated that two years ago the people of Newark voted to issue these bonds and what had been done was merely carrying out the will of the people. The money was now in the hands of the city, and if it was decided to purchase the old plant the necessary amount could be taken from the fund and used to buy the plant.

Judge Hunter: "The gentleman is mistaken, honestly so, I have no doubt, but the vote of the people authorized the council to issue bonds for the building of a water works plant, and not one cent of the amount realized from such sale can be used to purchase a plant or for any other purpose. Transferring money from one fund to another in the adjustment of tax rates, etc., is expressly allowed by statute, but when the people authorize the expenditure of money for one purpose, it can be made for no other. This is the law of Ohio, well settled and indisputable. There has been too much secrecy about this sale. The council was not consulted in the matter, but three men hodge to Cleveland and sell $300,000 worth of city bonds at private sale in defiance of the order of council to sell at public sale. Do the gentlemen think we, who know nothing about this sale cannot be trusted? Then why were we ignored in the matter?"

There were no further remarks and a vote on Jones' motion to adopt the report was lost.

Those voting to adopt were Jones, Carlile, Moser; against adoption, Hunter, Conrad, Miller.

CALL MADE FOR CONFERENCE

Governor Odell Charged With Fostering the Interests Former Governor Black.

New York, Dec. 20.—Senator Thomas C. Platt has called a conference of Republicans to meet in the Fifth Avenue hotel Wednesday to take measures for the re-election of Senator Depew. More than 50 invitations have been issued to leaders and legislators. Senator Platt says that this conference is called largely for the purpose of neutralizing the effect of the recent conference at which Governor Odell and many other prominent Republicans were present, and which showed itself strongly in favor of Frank S. Black's candidacy. When asked whether he had invited Governor Odell to consult with him, Senator Platt replied: "Of course I have not done so. The governor is backing the other man."

Senator Platt said that he had visited Wall street and consulted with a very large number of prominent Republicans, all of whom, he added, he had found to be enthusiastically in favor of the re-election of Senator Depew. Regarding who would be present at the conference, Senator Platt said: "Republicans who are interested in the election of a United States senator are men of different parts of the state. I shall not turn anybody away. I want to find out where we stand, and I propose getting to the bottom of the matter."

Governor Odell, Senator Platt said, was mistaken if he believed that Black would have a majority in the legislature. "He has not even a majority of the Republicans," he said. When asked how Governor-elect Higgins stood on the question of the senatorship, Senator Platt replied that he did not know, but that he hoped to be able to "smoke him out" before long. Ex-Governor Black came to the city from Troy. When asked whether the announcement of his candidacy in the Troy Times was authoritative, he replied that he was not yet prepared to make any statement of his attitude.

Wholly Disabled Says Admiral Togo in Report to Tokyo --News From War Zone.

Tokyo, Dec. 20.—There is great rejoicing in the capital today over the success of General Samejima who led his forces in the great capture of Kekewan Fort Sunday. The capture is an important movement and aids the Japanese in their operations at Port Arthur.

Tokyo, Dec. 20.—The following report of the capture of North fort, east of Kekewan mountain, near Port Arthur, was telegraphed from General Nogi's headquarters: "At 2:15 o'clock on the afternoon of Dec. 18 part of our army blew up the parapets of the North fort of East Kekewan mountain and then charged. A fierce battle with hand grenades ensued. Owing to the stubborn resistance of the enemy with his machine guns our operations were temporarily suspended. Subsequently, at 7 o'clock in the evening, General Semeiam, commanding the supports, advanced into the casemates and, encouraging his men, threw his supports into the fighting line in a last brave charge. At 11:50 o'clock at night we completely occupied the fort, and immediately engaged in the construction of defensive works. Our occupation became firmly assured Sunday. Before retiring, the enemy exploded four mines in the neighborhood of the neck of the fort. We captured five nine-centimeter field guns and two machine guns, as well as plenty of ammunition. The enemy left 40 or 50 dead. Our casualties have not been investigated, but they are not heavy."

The capture of the Kekewan fort was a complete surprise to the Russian garrison, there having been no preparatory bombardment. Japanese sappers drove shafts 40 feet under the parapet of the fort from the escapement and moat. In these two tons of dynamite well exploded simultaneously, completely wrecking the interior of the fort, while siege and shrapnel guns shelled Russian troops in the vicinity. This occurred at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A detachment of Japanese infantry made a headlong but premature dash and 60 of them became buried under a mass of debris, greatly delaying the attack. Despite this mischance another volunteer force dashed forward and captured the parapet. In the meantime the Russians had been strongly reinforced, and a fierce hand-to-hand struggle with bayonets and grenades was continued till near midnight, when the few Russian survivors retreated to the city and the fort was captured. Its construction displays the utmost scientific knowledge.

Vice Admiral Togo reports:

"There is no room left to doubt that the enemy's ships in the harbor of Port Arthur are totally unfit for service. I have reason to believe that the battleship Sevastopol has been disabled by our attacks, but no definite data on which to pass final judgment has yet been obtained. It is certain that at least six Russian torpedo boat destroyers remain intact in the harbor."

Togo May Retire.

Commander Yezoe's flotilla of torpedo boats was undergoing repairs when the attacks on the Sevastopol were planned, but he succeeded in putting one of his vessels into condition for a fight. This he steamed through the snowstorm alone and succeeded in locating the Sevastopol, to which he was able to get close enough to hear the Russians talking. Yezoe fired a torpedo and then went closer and fired another torpedo, when a shell of the Sevastopol struck him in the abdomen, cutting his body in two.

It is probable that Admiral Togo will soon return to Japan, leaving a junior admiral to conduct the final operations and to continue the blockade. It is expected that Togo will be summoned by the emperor to Tokyo. (Continued on Page 4, Third Col.)

National Bank Examiner L. L. Miller was appointed receiver. The resources and liabilities of the bank as shown by the last report, November 10, were each $300,549.57.

Conneaut, O., Dec. 20.—In explaining the closing of the First National bank here and the Marine bank at Conneaut Harbor, Cashier Little of the latter bank says since the Chadwick exposure there have been heavy withdrawals but that the bank held no Chadwick paper. San Francisco, Dec. 20.—Collector of Customs Stratton has received notification from the State department to warn shippers to advise steamship captains to keep twenty miles away from Pescadores Islands and that fortifications are being constructed at Suvo. This indicates naval activity and accords with the reports that a big Japanese fleet is near there. The Pescadores Islands are south of Formosa. It is believed a Japanese fleet has gone there to meet the Russian Baltic fleet and that a big battle may take place in the Indian ocean. The two sections of the Russian fleet one of which went around Africa and the other through the Suez canal, are expected to meet there early in January.

SMOOT HEARING

Nothing Sensational Developed—Apostle John Smith on Stand Two Hours.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Apostle John Henry Smith in the Smoot inquiry this morning was asked whether it was possible for Senator Smoot to become an apostle or to be married to his wife for time and eternity without having first taken the endowment obligations. He replied it was possible, but it was his belief that Mr. Smoot had been through the endowment house.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The senate committee on privileges and elections developed nothing sensational in the Senator Smoot investigation. Interest was evinced by members of the committee in statements by A. C. Nelson, superintendent of public instruction of Utah, concerning the use of school buildings for teaching the Mormon religion. Apostle John Henry Smith was on the stand for two hours. Other witnesses were Isaac Birdsell, a Mormon, who said that his daughter was excommunicated because she would not obey a decision of a bishop's court, which had deprived her of a piece of property to which she had the lawful title, and William Ballard, editor of the Boise (Ida.) Statesman, who testified in regard to the present affairs in his state.

The first body recovered was identified as that of Wm. Lillyblade. Within a few minutes the body of Wm. Anderson, a laborer, was recovered. Proprietor Crocker says more are on the missing list.

ARMY MANEUVERS

Not Worth the Cost, Says Members of the House Military Committee.

Washington, Dec. 20.—There will be no army maneuvers next year if the House military committee continues in its present frame of mind. The plan mapped out by the committee is to reduce the appropriation to $12,000,000. This reduction of $3,000,000 will make the manning of troops for the annual maneuvers out of the question. The usual appropriation for the transportation of the National Guard will also be withheld. Members of the committee do not believe the maneuvers are worth the expense.

Pennsylvania Flyer Run Into Ey a Local Passenger Train--Several People Injured.

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—The Chicago limited on the Pennsylvania railroad was run into by a local passenger train in the railroad yards at Forty-fourth street and Girard avenue, this city, and several persons were injured. Among those hurt were: H. Lebastian of Detroit, Mich., who received slight lacerations of the head, and L. M. Beamer of New York city, who sustained two broken ribs. The fourth and fifth coaches of the limited, both sleeping cars, were overturned. The other coaches did not leave the track. The accident was due to a switch failing to work. The overturned coaches caught fire from a lamp on the front of the engine, but the few imprisoned passengers were reached before the flames had gained much headway. After an hour's delay the limited was started west.

WACK-LAWSON CO.

District Attorney Jerome's Significant Remark Made to Lawyer Chas. M. Beattie.

New York, Dec. 20.—Henry Wellington Wack, who says he seeks the prosecution of Thomas W. Lawson, did not appear at District Attorney Jerome's office as he had announced he would, but his counsel, Charles M. Beattie, called on Mr. Jerome. The district attorney created some surprise by saying that he had seen another lawyer representing "larger and greater interests than those represented by Mr. Beattie." "No one can get into the grand jury room," said Mr. Jerome, "in the first instance without a proved case or for public reasons, except over my dead body. The grand jury has been used heretofore in some instances to pull chestnuts out of the fire, but it will not be used in this instance." Mr. Jerome declared that he will give all the assistance and support warranted by his office and will give the plaintiffs the services of one of his assistants for the purpose of bringing the case before a magistrate. Mr. Wack's counsel said that he will proceed in the manner suggested by Mr. Jerome and will have the matter presented to a magistrate's court.

A BUDGET OF UP-TO-DATE LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

William Hoffman Takes Samuel Gibson's Place—New Generator and Motor Drive—Personal Items.

Samuel Gibson, a well-known fireman on the Ohio & Little Kanawha running on the branch line from Marietta to Parkersburg, W. Va., died suddenly at his home in Marietta, after a short illness from appendicitis.

Mr. Gibson was about 25 years of age, and has been married only a few months. His place on the Marietta branch will be temporarily taken by William Hoffman of Newark.

New Generator and Motor Drive.
G. J. DeVilbiss, master mechanic of the Baltimore & Ohio shops at this point, has been notified that authority has been given for the expenditure of $10,645.00 for the purpose of installing one additional generator and another motor drive at Newark. This will dispense with the steam engine in the lower machine shop, also the steam engine in the foundry. It is not thought that the work will be completed before spring.

Railroad Tax Illegal.
St. Louis, Dec. 20.—By a decision rendered by Judge Adams in the United States circuit court the United Railroads company will save between $125,000 and $140,000 annually in taxes paid to the city. Judge Adams held that a city ordinance which went into effect Jan. 1 last providing for a tax of 1 mill a passenger is illegal. The mill tax ordinance repealed the bill which levied a tax of $25 a car, and until a new tax law is passed the United Railroads company will not have to pay any tax to the city.

Protection of Railway Employees.
Washington, Dec. 20.—In a decision handed down by Chief Justice Fuller in the case of Johnson versus the Southern Pacific Railway company, the supreme court of the United States practically held that all cars, including locomotives, should be equipped with uniform automatic couplers. The court also held that dining cars can not be exempt from the requirements of the safety appliance law when in use, even though empty. The decision is considered by the interstate commerce commission and the department of justice to be a decided step forward in the protection of railroad employees.

Remored Railway Deals.
Cincinnati, O., Dec. 20.—It is stated by a prominent railroad official that a part of the C. H. & D. Railroad will become the property of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern.

A deal is positively on between the Erie and the C. H. & D. interests. It is learned from an authoritative source that besides a difference in price there is also some question about the Erie taking over all of the C. H. & D. properties.

It is said that the B. & O. will come in and acquire the C. H. & D., which would give the B. & O. S-W. a line from Columbus, and also points south of the Ohio River to Chicago. It is said that the C. H. & D. lines from here to Chicago will be of no benefit to the Erie and that the interests controlling that road do not desire to purchase the whole system.

ON CAR TRACKS

Diminutive Mayor Was Peacefully Sleeping When Arrested.

Alonso Weed, the diminutive mayor of Amesville, Ohio, who was arraigned in the Cincinnati police court Saturday and promised Judge Leuders that he would leave the city, was found asleep on the street car tracks at Sixth street and Hillside avenue yesterday. He was in imminent danger of being run over, but his dreams of vetoing tax ordinances were not disturbed. Judge Leuders gave him some wholesome advice and then ordered him to leave the city posthaste under penalty of a four months' sentence if he failed by the wayside where the booze plants grow.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The proprietor brought a replevin suit to recover the liquors, and it was on this suit that the decision was rendered.

Revolution Imminent.

A sure sign of approaching revolt and serious trouble in your system is nervousness, sleeplessness, or stomach upsets. Electric Bitters will quickly dismember the troublesome causes. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, and clarify the blood. Run down systems benefit particularly and all the usual attending aches vanish under its searching and thorough effectiveness. They say in New York that Russell Sage is about the only rich man of that city who has not in the past month or so been arrested for speeding an auto or ignoring the traffic regulations. Mr. Sage comes downtown about three times a week nowadays. Of late he has taken to an auto, but it is not thought probable that he will be bitten by the speed mania.

At a meeting of the board of county commissioners held at 5 o'clock on Monday evening, Robert W. William Davis was re-appointed janitor.

Owens vs. Owens Et Al.

William H. Owens, by his attorney, O. W. Patrick, has brought suit against Sarah E. Owens, and Frank C. King, guardians, in which he says that he is the owner of certain real estate in this county; that his wife has a contingent right of dower therein, Sarah E. Owens being his wife, and that she was adjudged insane by the probate court, and is in the State Asylum. Plaintiff says that he has agreed and contracted to sell a portion of the land to Abbee King, and a portion to Vila J. Brumelle. He asks for a decree barring Sarah E. Owens from any right of dower in said land.

ADJUDGED INSANE

Frederick M. Johnson Labors Under the Hallucination He is a Clairvoyant.

A sad case came up before the Probate court on Tuesday morning. It was that of Frederick M. Johnson, the 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Johnson of Front street, this city, who was charged with having developed unmistakable signs of insanity. It seems that he labored under the hallucination that he was a clairvoyant and medium, and was able to converse at any time with spirits in the other world. He has considerable talent for mechanical drawing and numerous specimens of his skill were exhibited to the court. The testimony showed that he remained up all night working on his drawings. Among his drawings was a plan of an immense telescope, the largest in the world, which he said was being built in California. He said that on Monday night he took the tenth degree in the International Masons, the degree being conferred upon him by saints. When 16 years old young Johnson ran away from his home in Mt. Vernon and went to sea, and has been a sailor for some years. He was in the British transport service during the Boer war, and is a fine appearing young man. He was ordered sent to the State hospital.

FEUDISTS FOUGHT

During Session of Magistrate's Court In Kentucky—Duel With Knives.

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 20.—A desperate four-handed duel with knives is reported from Hadley, in the extreme western portion of the county, from the result of which two of the participants will die and the other two are seriously wounded, but will likely recover.

Bad blood has existed for some time between the Gilliams and Barks, of that vicinity, and they were attending Magistrate's court when some trivial happening brought on the encounter.

The parties to the fight were standing in front of the store in which court was being held when the row arose.

Lon and Tom Barks were on one side and Dave and James Gilliam on the other, and in the fracas that followed each of the men drew a knife and began slashing his opponent into the store, taking wounds and giving the same in return. The four went scattering the assembled magistrate, counsel and witnesses. The fight continued through the building and into the yard in the rear. Weakness from loss of blood and the seriousness of their wounds finally stopped the duel.

The men were picked from the ground where they had fallen and taken to nearby houses for attention.

Dr. Bush was summoned and expressed an opinion that the Gilliams would die from their wounds and the Barks probably recover.

The scene of this bloody conflict is in the neighborhood where Charles Hazel, a young white farmer, was killed by a negro, Lon Wilson, a few weeks since.

Youth Charged With Murder.

Huntington, W. Va., Dec. 20.—The authorities of Logan county placed under arrest Fred Stratton, charged with being the murderer of Rosa White, the 18-year-old girl who was found with her head almost severed from her body Sunday morning. Stratton was hiding in the woods when captured, but he surrendered without resistance. The bloody weapons found near the scene have been traced to Stratton, his initials being on a razor which was found near the dead body. The alleged murderer was taken to the Logan jail, but will probably be brought here for safe keeping. He belongs to a well known family.

Foreign Attaches Dismissed.

Tangier, Dec. 20.—The report is confirmed that the Sultan of Morocco has notified the legations of his intention to dismiss the foreign military attaches. Inquiries show that there was a deep-laid plot to capture the French mission and hold them as hostages till the political crisis was over. Severe fighting is reported five hours' journey from Tangier.

The Longest Talk on Record.

In Omaha, Neb., halfway across the continent and about forty hours from Boston by fast train, a man sits comfortably in his office chair and with no more exertion than is required to lift a portable receiver off his desk talks every day to his representative in the chief New England city. The man in Boston hears his chief's voice and can recognize the peculiarities in it just as if he stood in the same room with him. The man in Nebraska, speaking in an ordinary conversational tone, can be heard perfectly well in Boston, 1,460 miles away.

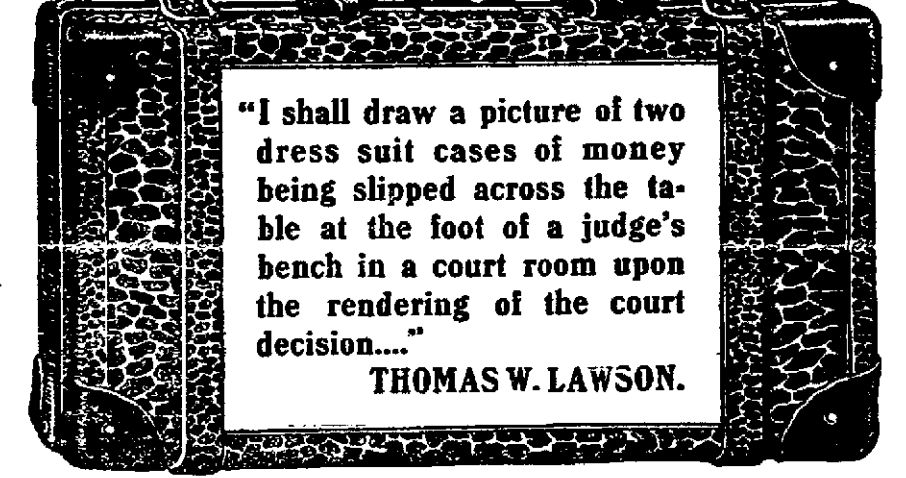

This is the longest talk on record—that is, it is the longest continuous telephone line in steady and constant use, though the human voice has been carried even greater distances with the aid of this wonderful instrument.—From "Stories of Inventors," by Russell Doubleday.

Various stories as to the nationality of General Anatole Stoessel have made him out a German, a Jew, a Swiss, a Swede. It appears that in a way Russia is indebted to her ancient enemy, Sweden, for the valiant defender of Port Arthur, for General Stoessel's grandfather was a Swedish army officer, says the Echo de Paris. But his father served in the Russian army and was a member of the Orthodox church. General Stoessel, who is now fifty-six years old, studied at the Pavloff Military academy in the same class as Kurapatkin and served through the war with Turkey, Tien, as a commander in Siberia, he won high distinction for administrative work.

Bliss College

Newark, Ohio.

GRAND NEW YEAR'S OPENING OF THE BLISS BUSINESS COLLEGE WILL OCCUR ON MONDAY, JANUARY 24, AT WHICH TIME NEW CLASSES WILL BE FORMED IN BOTH DAY AND EVENING SESSIONS. The Bliss Business College of Newark was formerly opened to the patronage of the people on September 12th, and since that time it has enjoyed splendid attendance and is rapidly becoming known as one of the leading schools of business training.

When Mr. Bliss concluded to open the Newark branch, he fully made up his mind it should not be unworthy of its parental school, the Bliss Business College of Columbus, and has spared neither pains or expense to bring about the desired result. The people of Newark seem to appreciate this fact, and have given the school their splendid support. The many young people in attendance are warm in their praise of the Bliss System of business training. The opportunities for young people in the business world were never so good as at the present time. The Bliss Business College of Columbus is becoming famous for its ability to educate and place young men and women in splendid clerical situations, and it will be ever our aim to assist the Newark students in obtaining good positions in Newark, Columbus, and elsewhere.

We most cordially invite you to call at the office at any time and assure you we will take pleasure in showing you our magnificent equipment, and give you a splendid idea of the work that is being done by our proficient teachers.

Uprising Likely in San Domingo. Cape Haitien, Haiti, Dec. 20.—It has been ascertained from a reliable source that the Haitian government demanded of the government of Santo Domingo the expulsion of the Haitian revolutionists who have sought refuge at Monte Cristi, Santo Domingo. It is added that President Morales of Santo Domingo gave orders for the expulsion of the revolutionists to the authorities of Monte Cristi, and that the latter refused to carry them out. Haiti then closed her frontier against Santo Domingo, refusing to have any further relations with the sister republic. It is reported that heavy consignments of contraband munitions of war are entering Santo Domingo daily by way of the Haitian frontier, and that an extensive uprising against the government of President Morales will shortly take place.

Sickness Among Jap Troops. Huanshan, Dec. 20.—It is reported that a new form of sickness has broken out among the Japanese, rendering the bubonic plague. The intense cold of the last few days has obliged the Japanese to abandon some of their advance posts and consequently Russian scouts have been able to reach them to the Japanese main positions. A Japanese observation balloon was seen reconnoitering the Russian front.

WHO GETS CHEAP GOODS.

A mixture of Canada hard wheat with our western wheat improves and cheapens flour. Mills in Buffalo and Minneapolis are making this better and cheaper flour, but they cannot sell it to the people of the United States without paying 25 cents on every bushel of Canada wheat. They have given bonds to sell only to foreign countries. Officials paid by the people guard these mills to insure that England and Japan shall get every pound of flour at a lower price than our own people would be glad to pay for it.

The hard woods of the United States are scarce and high in price. The furniture factories of Michigan import lumber from Canada and manufacture from it furniture for England, France and Germany. They have given bonds that they will not allow any inhabitant of the United States to buy this furniture. The United States pays salaries to officials to see that foreigners get every piece. The people of the United States would be glad to pay more than the foreigners do.

The Massachusetts shoe manufacturers are permitted to get their hides from the Argentine Republic instead of from the Meat and Leather Trusts provided that none of the people of the United States wear the shoes; they must wear the Meat Trust's and Leather Trust's shoes. American manufacturers make the cheaper good shoes for foreigners only.

The secretary of the treasury proposes to extend this system of cheapening manufactured articles for foreigners.

England's Arbitration Talk.

Since "it's never too late to mend" we should not be squeamish about applauding the British plea for arbitration voted by Lord Lansdowne. However, it is but five years since 1839, and some of us have not forgotten a situation forcibly recalled by one sentence of Lansdowne's Guildhall speech. Said he, "We can conceive of no more terrible punishment than the remorse of any minister or body of ministers who from loss of temper or desire of popularity bring upon the country the scourge and calamity of needless war." It is remembered, to the credit of the British public, that there was no popular hue and cry for the invasion of the Transvaal, although that public, or the noisy part of it, was wrought up to war frenzy later on. Diplomacy and good luck put off the North sea crisis, and yet it is doubtful whether Russia would have been so ready to yield her point had there been no Hague tribunal, fathered by the czar, in actual existence. It was a happy thought of a third party, France, to propose appealing to the vanity of the czar.

Fortunately the Hague tribunal is in readiness to take up a question on short notice, and that is one point gained for society. But it is not so very long, either, since we heard at home the bitterest denunciation of diplomacy. It was daily and hourly consigned to the limbo. Lord Lansdowne told his audience that arbitration is the fashion at present among ministers of state, and if the fashion can somehow filter down through all ranks of society public indignation over a real or fancied outrage may be cooled by simply passing it up to the referee. England sought to prove during the South African war that she had not been a frequent belligerent of late years, but she has a reputation for belligerency which can only be dispelled by her submitting to arbitration a real quarrel in which she has a show of right and of success on her side. And that, coming from a nation of worldwide dominion, will be a move for peace which will mean something.

England is agitated over the discovery that emigration of her sturdy native stock to the United States is increasing and that her pressure in crowded cities is not relieved thereby, because of an influx of aliens from eastern Europe of a class not desirable.

Two old portraits of Nelson, in good condition, have, it is announced, been discovered in Dresden, dating from the great Admiral's visit there in 1801. The one is a large pastel, the other a miniature in oil.

WATER WORKS BONDS SOLD

could have been secured, was challenged after the meeting by a representative of a house that bid for the bonds, who said:

"Our bank entered a sealed bid for these bonds, and we offered a premium of over $19,000 or nearly double that secured by the private sale Monday, so that you can judge for yourself if the city was benefitted by today's action of the mayor, auditor and solicitor."

The history of the controversy over the issue and sale of the water works bonds was given to the Advocate in detail by Attorneys J. A. Flory and Charles L. Flory.

On Wednesday evening Judge Coynor granted a temporary injunction, restoring the sale of the bonds on the following day, December 13, at which time they were to be offered for sale. After granting this injunction Judge Coynor adjourned court until Saturday. Mr. Flory's contention which Solicitor Smythe incorporated in his petition was the fact that they could not be sold on that date as they would not have been advertised the required 30 days. This contention Mr. Smythe characterized Monday night as "foolishness," but Mr. Flory points out the following facts in support of his claim: The first notice appeared in the papers November 15. Now counting each day until December 15 make out thirty days. But at noon of that day the last notice had not yet appeared, and did not until the issue of that evening's papers. Sections 1536-253 of the Revised Statutes provides that the bonds may be offered for sale AFTER 30 days advertisement. But as a matter of fact Section 4951 provides distinctly as follows: "The time within which an act shall be done shall be computed by excluding the first day and including the last," so that as a matter of fact the sale was advertised only 29 days, at noon on the 15th of December.

Continuing Messrs. Flory said: "Judge Seward held court on Saturday to hear some formal matters, and we were there until it adjourned. There was absolutely nothing done in the matter of the injunction. On Monday we learned that an entry had been made on the journal purporting to state that 'this cause came on to be heard on a demurrer to the petition, which demurrer was sustained by the court and the petition ordered dismissed.'"

"This entry was signed by Frank A. Bolton, attorney for defendants, and O. K. D. by Phil B. Smythe, attorney for plaintiff."

"We asked Judge Seward if he had heard the case and he replied that he had not, and by reference to his trial docket, we found that the case had not even been listed there. He said that he had never made any such order dissolving the injunction. He told us this on Monday."

"The law further provides that bonds may be sold at private sale only after they have been advertised and offered for public sale, and in the present case they were never offered in the latter manner."

"The private sale consummated by the Mayor, Auditor and Solicitor is undoubtedly illegal, but I cannot say what course our firm will take in the matter at present. They have practically given away thousands of dollars as other firms would have paid a much higher premium. One Newark financial institution assured us today that it had put in a bid for the bonds, offering therefor a premium of $20,000, or nearly twice that which was received."

The money realized from the sale of the bonds was brought to Newark and placed in the city treasury in the court house, where it will remain until court orders it to be otherwise disposed of.

MAYOR CRILLY'S VETO
Attached to Ordinance to Appropriate Money to Employ Engineer--Reasons Given for Action--Proceedings of City Council.

The City Council was called to order by President pro tem Miller, and the following members answered roll call, Conrad, Carlile, Hunter, Moser, Jones.

The principal business of the evening was the report of the private sale of $300,000 water works bonds and the discussion which followed. This subject is referred to in another column.

Four property owners on Stanberry street remonstrated against the paving of said street, referred to Board of Public Service.

The ordinance repealing an ordinance passed to issue bonds for the erection of a water works system was read for the third time; action postponed until next regular meeting.

An ordinance establishing a sidewalk line on Riley street was read for the third time; referred to law committee.

An ordinance appropriating $700 for the purchase of real estate for the opening of Burt avenue, was read for the third time and referred to committee on Board of Public Service.

An ordinance was read for the second time making assessments for the paving of Granville from Eddy to Eleventh streets.

The council exercised the right of option and accepted free fuel gas for the City Electric Light plant from the Newark Gas Light and Coke company instead of 2 per cent of the gross receipts of said company.

Mayor Crilly vetoed the ordinance introduced by Miller and passed under a suspension of the rules, appropriating $140 to employ an engineer to appraise the property of the Newark Water Works company, with the following comments:

Mayor's Office.
To the Honorable, the City Council, City of Newark, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—I herewith return to you an ordinance, by Mr. Miller, to appropriate money from the general fund, to wit: $140.00 and place to the credit of the Public Service fund, to be expended for the services of an engineer to appraise the property of the Newark Ohio Water Company; not approved.

My objections to said ordinance are:

1st. The amount sought to be appropriated is in my judgment totally inadequate as compensation for the services required, I do not believe the city can get a competent engineer to do what should be done in the premises for less than $1,000.00.

To make a thorough examination of the plant, ascertain its present condition and estimate its actual cash value, will take considerable time and a competent engineer will charge from $35.00 to $50.00 per day for his services. And in addition to the above work, it will be necessary for the engineer acting in behalf of the city and looking solely to the best interests of the city to consider not only the present condition of the water

Disorders Alarm the Rulers.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 20.—The emperor's fête day was marked by a continuation of the Moscow disorders, the feature of which was the distribution of a violent proclamation of the Social Democratic labor party describing the whole country as being in a state of mourning and tears for the sacrifice of life in the far east for the aggrandizement of the Romanoffs, picturing the government as driving the people to starvation and calling upon the workmen to enter ceaselessly upon a war for overthrowing the tyrants. Other demonstrations are reported from various localities. In consequence of the character of the current agitation, the advisers of Emperor Nicholas have dissuaded him from his contemplated trip to the south of Russia to bid farewell to troops being dispatched to the far east.

Baltic Squadron Sighted.

Cape Town, Dec. 20.—Sixteen vessels, presumably of the Russian Baltic squadron, have been sighted 25 miles out, steering south. It is supposed they will call at Delagoa bay, where colliers have already arrived.

The Society Woman's Double Sensation

If anybody ever gave the impression of knowing who is who, what is what and why is why, that woman did. She was good looking and the incarnation of style from the top of her brown velvet hat to the soles of her patent leather shoes. And personal attractiveness apparently was not her only charm. Wisdom and culture were also hers and a wide knowledge of the ways of the polite world.

At any rate that was what everybody thought about her and what several persons, especially men, who sat in the lobby said as she passed through. The delectable creature knew she was creating a sensation, and she sat down near the reception room door to realize the effect. The reception room had other occupants. One of them was a woman afflicted with headaches and sinking spells. She was already suffering with the former infirmity, and shortly after the elegant one sat down beside her she said she felt the latter one coming on.

"I do believe," she said to her stunning neighbor, "that I am sinking away. I want water. Ring the bell, please, for a boy."

The stunning creature looked bewildered. "Ma'am?" she said.

"Water—boy—bell!" gasped the sinking lady.

The stunning creature's perplexity deepened into distress. "Where—where is it?" she stammered.

"Button—on the wall," wheezed the invalid and kept on sinking.

The stunning creature stood up, looked around and bolted toward the opposite side of the room. In an instant everybody else began to bolt. Bellboys rushed hither and thither with unwonted speed, festive guests in the dining room ceased their laughter, men swore, women screamed, and the invalid sunk completely away. The proprietor reached the center of disturbance first.

"What is the matter here?" he said. It didn't take him long to find out. The stunning creature had turned off the electric lights.—New York Press.

The Weekly Wash.

The choir master of St. Anonyma's announced to his choir boys one Friday night that he would like to have an extra rehearsal the following evening (Saturday) and asked if all the boys would be able to be present. Two only signified that they would not, and on investigation it was discovered that the first youngster was to go to a party that night. The second, a little fellow about nine years old, was asked if he was also to be a guest at the same function.

"No, sir," he answered.

"Then why can't you come?" asked the choir master.

The child hesitated for an instant, then in a burst of candor blurted out: "Because I've got to take my bath!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 20.—Ernest Rosner, a well-to-do Allegheny citizen, living on the Brighton road, whose wife left him some weeks ago, yesterday told his neighbors that he was the most unlucky man in the world. BEGGING SUPPLIES IN NAME OF
SALVATION ARMY.

Ensign Bearehell Asks For Deposits In Street Kettles For Benefit of the Poor.

Ensign Bearehell of the Salvation Army, has just been informed that an unauthorized person has been going about the city collecting clothing and other articles for the poor in the name of the Salvation Army. This man who called at least two Hudson avenue homes Monday wore a soft black hat, black overcoat and had light colored hair. At neither of the two places referred to did the man receive anything as the suspicion of the residents was aroused.

Ensign Bearehell requests all who have donations to make to the Salvation Army to communicate with him at 116 Jackson street, or call independent telephone No. 9552 red. Calls will be promptly and cheerfully responded to. There are many requests for supplies made upon the army and its limited means makes it impossible to respond to more than a fraction of them.

The army is trying to prepare a few Christmas surprises for the deserving poor, but to date only $50 have been deposited in the kettles on the street corners. Much more is needed. Every little helps. As you pass the kettle drop in a nickel, dime, quarter or a dollar. It will help to make some one happy next Sunday—Christmas day.

TUBERCULOSIS AREA

Covers Nineteen States, According to the Doctor's Statistics.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Secretary Hay has transmitted to the House a report on the best means of combating and treating tuberculosis and of avoiding its propagation in penal institutions. The report was prepared by Dr. J. B. Ransom, physician at Clinton Prison, Dannemora, New York.

Dr. Ransom says his statistics show that 19 states comprise what might be termed the tuberculosis area of the United States, and within their borders are located all of the densely populated cities of the country. This area has a total population of 46,128,871, and a prison population of 29,167, of whom 1,097 have tuberculosis. The total tuberculosis prison population of the country is given as 2,151, a percentage of 1.88.

Dr. Ransom recommends government supervision of penal institutions, sanitary and airy buildings, and a revision of punishment and exercise rules.

MILLS' PLANS ACCEPTED

New $25,000 School House Will be Erected in Woodside Addition Built So Additions May be Made to the Structure.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Monday evening with the following members present: Messrs. Beggs, Christian, Felton, Haight, Heckley, and President Keller in the chair.

A number of bids were read and allowed.

Principal E. P. Childs of the high school was authorized to purchase a number of historical charts at a cost not to exceed $21.50.

The supply committee was authorized to purchase as many new desks as necessary to furnish the new Indiana street building, and to replace those that are worn out at other places. The cost is to be from $1.00 to $1.50 per desk, the same price paid for the ones purchased last summer. The desks were ordered through Oscar Fisher of Piqua, representing the American School Furniture company. Superintendent J. D. Shanks reported the total enrollment at 3,965.

The most important business transaction was the examination of plans for a new school building to be erected in the spring in Woodside. Architects Walter T. Mills of Columbus, Ind., and Archibald of Newark, submitted plans for a new eight room building. There was some talk of a larger building, 10 or 12 rooms, as with the new room building every one will be equipped as soon as completed, allowing nothing for the future. Mr. Mills' plans were drawn so that the building could very easily be made two or four rooms larger if the board so desired.

We have "painted the lily." Perfection is bettered. The "P.S." (Prophylactic) tooth brush has a flexible handle. Something to be experienced, not described.

3 sizes—Adult's, Youth's, Child's—at all dealers. Always sold in the yellow box.

AWAKENED

Just In Time to Rescue His Family From the House Before It Sank.

Keel, O. Dec. 20.—The residents of Silver Creek, the little mining town, continue to fear and dread from the swarms which are wrecking houses there.

The home of Ben Zener rests in the bottom of a sinkhole, deep enough to bury the house. Sunday night Zener was awakened by a crushing sound. He felt the house vibrate, and aroused his family just in time to escape before the cave-in occurred.

A watch is being kept in homes over the mine, and it is not thought there will be much sleep for those who are in danger of being precipitated into the bowels of the earth.

DR. LYMAN ABBOTT

Says "My God is a Great and Ever Present Force," In Sermon to Harvard Students.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 20.—Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, in a sermon to Harvard students, has announced his belief in a religion founded, not on the Bible but on science, and the out-reachings of the human heart.

"I wonder," he said, "if you will understand me when I say that I no longer believe in a great first cause. My God is a great and ever-present force, which is manifest in all the activities of man and all the workings of nature."

"I believe in a God who is in and through and of everything—not an absent God, whom we have to reach through a Bible, or some other outside aid, but a God, who is closer to us, than hands or feet. Science, literature and history tell us that there is one eternal energy; that the Bible no longer can be accepted as ultimate, that many of its laws were copied from other religions; that the Ten Commandments did not spring spontaneously from Moses, but were like all laws, a gradual growth, and that man is a creature, not a creation. "No thinking man will say there are many energies. There is only one energy. That energy has always been working. It is an intelligent energy. No scientist can deny it. It was working before Christ's time, even as it is now."

MURDER TRIAL

Of Frank Hottman Begins at Kansas City—Mrs. Myers to Be Tried Later.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 20.—The case of Frank Hottman, charged with murder in the first degree was called today before a crowd which packed the courtroom to the limit. Hottman is accused of having caused the death of Clarence Myers, a young printer, by stabbing him with a razor and beating him with a club. Mrs. Myers, wife of the murdered man, is in jail on the same charge and will be arraigned later. Hottman has repudiated a series of confessions he made beginning with his arrest at Walla Walla, Wash., saying they were made under duress, breath from her original story that two negro burglars fell upon herself and husband as they slept, one holding her while the other killed him. The state will endeavor to prove by circumstantial evidence that Hottman entered the house with Mrs. Myers' connivance for the purpose of slaying him so they might marry each other.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not the rotund well-fed, but thin, spare men who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to cleanse and invigorate his stomach and regulate his liver and bowels. #### THE REAL TEST.

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair-vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, O., Dec. 20.—A special meeting of the village council was held on last Saturday evening for the purpose of transacting some unfinished business before the final adjournment of the old council on January 3.

All members were present with the exception of Hulshizer, with Mayor J. M. Swartz in the chair.

A resolution was passed directing the street commissioner to construct a sidewalk on the east side of the lot of Dr. Davis, corner of Broadway and Cherry streets, and to assess the cost of the same back on the lot.

Mr. Theodore Baker returned the tally sheets of the election held on Saturday, to the council, which was canvassed by the Mayor and the Clerk. The clerk recorded the result on the minutes of the council.

The football number of the Denisonian issued last Saturday would be a prize winner anywhere. It fairly brimmed over with information and good things in its class. Its make-up and general mechanical appearance was first class, and as a specimen of the "art preservative" was a credit to the publishers.

"SHERWELL,"

Acquitted of Murder in Indiana, Sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary For Arson.

Norwalk, O., Dec. 20.—Wilbur Charville, alias Sherwell, has been sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary in Columbus. Charville was convicted of setting fire to J. Krieger's linn and coal sheds last July, and has been in jail for a week, pending a motion for a new trial.

In his plea for a new trial Charville alleged that a juror, Ed Hostetler, had stated before the trial that he considered Charville guilty, and believed the police had the right man. George McGee, a barber, filed an affidavit that Hostetler made this remark. Judge Wildman overruled the motion.

In imposing the sentence the court asked Charville what he had to say. Charville replied: "I am an innocent man. I ask the court to be lenient." The judge then took Charville through a long examination inquiring into his past life, and Charville admitted that he had been tried for murder in Evansville and acquitted. He said he changed his name to Sherwell in order to get away from his wife.

Charville will carry the case to the Circuit court.

St. Louis, Dec. 20.—Howard W. Brandt of Pueblo, Mexico, filed yesterday for $30,000 against Eugenia Perry Hughes, of 4424 Forest Park Boulevard, alleging breach of contract of marriage. In classifying the amount of damages, he stipulates $5,000 as actual damages and $25,000 for the disgrace and humiliation" she brought upon him in the eyes of his business associates by jilting him.

In his petition he relates that he gave her a $1,500 sapphire necklace, a $400 solitaire diamond ring, a $25 gold heart and $100 life size crayon and photograph portrait of herself, but does not say whether these were returned to him. He also alleges that his attentions to her cost him "three or four months' time," valued by him at $500 a month, and expenses of $1 a day.

The defendant was married last summer to Samuel W. Hughes of St. Louis.

BRITT AND NELSON READY FOR TAP OF BELL.

Both Boys Are Confident—Newark Basket Ball Team—Day's Sport News.

San Francisco, Dec. 20.—Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson meet here tonight in a 25-round contest for the championship of the world. Both boys are in perfect condition. Nelson is slightly under weight and Britt is a fraction over the mark, so the forfeit money is safe on both sides. In interviews each of the pugilists expressed confidence in the outcome. Britt said: "I am going to be beaten some time, but Nelson won't be the man. He is not good enough fighter to whip me. From what I have seen I think Nelson is the best man I ever signed articles with." Nelson said: "When I fought Corbett I was better than when I fought Hagdon and when I beat Britt I will be better than when I beat Corbett. I have more confidence, and I think I am the better fighter. If Britt beats me all I can say is that he will know that he has been in a fight, and that he found me in my best condition. I will have no excuses." Betting on the match has thus far been light, with Britt the favorite and the Nelson supporters asking for greater odds.

SENATOR FORAKER

Says He Does Not Think Congress Will Pass Bill Reducing Representation.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 20.—United States Senator Foraker, who arrived here from Washington, said he did not believe the present congress would pass any bill reducing the representation in congress of any states. He said: "I hardly think the bill to reduce congressional representation in the southern states will be passed. In the nature of things, such a bill will provoke extended and elaborate debate, and under the circumstances there will not be time enough to deal with the subject properly. In addition to appropriation bills, the senate will probably be occupied much of the session with the impeachment of Judge Swayne."

COLLEGE GIRLS

Gave Their Blood to Put New Life In to One of Their Number at Vincennes, Ind.

Vincennes Ind., Dec. 20.—To save the life of Miss Katherine Organ her fellow members of the Society of Vincennes University submitted to have their arteries tapped. The blood obtained was used to replenish the impoverished blood supply of Miss Organ. The fact has been kept a secret and even now the girls refuse to discuss the matter or tell who of their number submitted to the heroic operation.

Miss Organ was operated on for appendicitis. She lost a quart of blood. Her life was in momentary danger but her classmates came to her rescue and she is now completely out of danger.

The doctors injected blood from the veins of the healthiest members of the class into the veins of Miss Organ and there was a quick change for the better. ## NAN PATTERSON

Declares She Did Not Kill
Caesar Young.

TELLS HER STORY ON STAND

Recites to the Jury Her Experiences With Dead Bookmaker—The Fatal Ride.

New York, Dec. 10.—Nan Patterson has stated her life on the story of the last 24 hours with Bookmaker Young as told on the witness stand in the murder trial. Today she reiterated that she did not kill Young. The actress this morning was placed under the rigid cross-examination of Prosecutor Rand before an enormous crowd. She was pale and nervous as she recited again her meeting and travels with Young. She said in March Young gave her $2,500 to leave him two weeks and that after the latter part of 1903 Young had supported her. She said that Young had once given her $2,500 and often large sums. In telling of Young's talk with her the day before the tragedy in which he told her he must go to Europe with his wife as the latter was unhappy, the defendant said that Young had told her he feared that his wife would do him harm.

This morning Miss Patterson, pale and nervous, walked quietly to the witness stand and sat down, but did not remove her hat as she did yesterday afternoon. Prosecutor Rand took up her cross-examination.

"Are you an actress by occupation?"
"Yes."
"Are you a wife?"
"No."
"Are you a mother?"
"I am not."

Miss Patterson said she met Young July, 1903, while en route to San Francisco. She said she went with him for three months after that.

"Did you stop anywhere en route?"
"No. We might have stopped 10 or 15 minutes at Omaha."

"Do you recall going to San Francisco about March 1 of this year?"
"Yes. We went together to Los Angeles."

Miss Patterson said that Young gave her $2,500 out in Frisco to leave her for two weeks. She said after two weeks she returned again to the West and later followed Young East. She said that she went to Washington and then came to New York to Navarre Hotel. She said her sisters, May Queen and Mrs. J. Morgan Smith were with her during her stay at the hotel.

"When was it you came to New York on this visit?"
"May 2."

"Mrs. Smith called on you on the evening of May 3?"
"Yes."

"Well, is it not a fact that during the evening she fell a full length on the floor?"
"Yes, she was unconscious."

"And the cause of her condition was that Morgan Smith was sick?"
"He was not sick, but had been drinking."

"Drink enough to make her faint?"
"Yes."

Miss Patterson said that Smith was drunk and that his jaws became locked and that caused his wife to faint. Witness said that she and Young left the hotel.

Miss Patterson said that she left the Navarre Hotel and went to the Rossmore Hotel, but left there after one day. Witness said that before the talk with McKean, Young had told her that she must tell him that she was going away, though she must not do so. Miss Patterson said that when she and Young went to the Wellington Hotel, he registered as "Caesar Young and wife."

Witness said that Young took her to the Imperial Hotel in this city, but he did not register. She said Young did not live with her during this period.

"When was it that Young went to live with your brother-in-law and sister at the St. Paul Hotel?"
"It was late in May."

"Why did you leave the Imperial?"
"Someone told me I was."

"Then you were put out?"
"Yes. Mihin told me I was."

"What is J. Morgan Smith's business?"
"He was in the insurance business."

"Well, you said yesterday that Smith was at the race track every afternoon. Did you see him transact insurance business there?"
"I did not."

"When was your theatrical engagement?"
"The latter part of 1903."

"Since that time has your father supported you?"
"No."

"Then did not Young support you?"
"Yes."

"How much do you think he gave you? You remember he once gave you $2,500."

"He once gave me $2,500. He gave me often large sums of money."

"Did you get as much as $50,000 from him? You know you spent it and I must ask you."

"I don't know."

"Now, when Young spoke of going to Europe you said he said to you 'Nan, they have bought a ticket for me to go to Europe, they have trapped me and I have got to go.' Was that so?"
"Yes. That is so."

"What other reason did he give? Did he not say that his wife was unhappy and he thought he ought to go?"
"Yes. He said that."

"What other reason did he give? Did you not say that Young feared his wife would do him harm?"
"Yes."

"Do you state it as a fact that the day before he died that Young said to you that he feared Margaret Young would kill him?"
"I did not say that. He thought his wife might harm him."

"Then, why did you tell this jury on oath that Young said he was afraid his wife would kill him?"
"From something he said to me in San Francisco."

"As a matter of fact he never had any such fear?"
"No. I did not mean it."

"If Mrs. Young was in Europe and Young in America she could not kill him. Could she?"
"No."

The actress was subjected to severe line of questions all morning by Prosecutor Rand. She said she devotedly loved Young. Her testimony of affairs of the night before the tragedy could not be shaken by Rand. She recited the details of her trip in the cab on the morning of the tragedy in a dramatic manner. She said when she told Young she would not follow him to Europe as he wished he grabbed, hugged and kissed her. She said then she looked out of the window and heard the shot, after Young had said he was going to lose his girl. She said she did not see the revolver or the flash, but saw the smoke. With a court attendant she described how Young was sitting in the cab and his actions toward her. When dismissed from the stand the actress half staggered out of court to Tombs prison. She was extremely weak.

New York, Dec. 20.—In a voice filled with dramatic intensity, Miss Nan Patterson, who is on trial charged with the murder of Caesar Young, the bookmaker, recited to the jury the scenes in her life which had to do with her dealings with Young. Not only did Miss Patterson swear that she did not kill Young, but she denied every circumstance in the case which the state has brought up against her. She denied that she was dismayed because Young was about to leave her and go to Europe, after having been told by him, as it has been alleged, that all was over between them. She also testified that as a result of her conference with Young it was agreed that she should join him in England and take apartments in the Hotel Cecil, London, taking care that she keep her whereabouts a complete secret from Mrs. Young and Young's relatives. An important feature brought out was the fact that Young gave the woman a postal card on which he wrote her name and address, saying it was something she might need.

Miss Patterson told of her original meeting with Young, of their life together and of their contemplated European trip. She told of her talk with Young the night before his proposed departure for Southampton, of her being awakened by a telephonic message from him to go to the pier to see him off, of the ride down town, of the moments in a saloon and of the ride in the cab before the shooting. She was asked to describe what happened after leaving the saloon, while driving down West Broadway.

"We talked about his going away, and he kept questioning me about my coming to meet him," said Miss Patterson. "I said, 'Well, Caesar, there's no use saying I will, because I've made up my mind not to; but you go over there and get things quieted down. I will meet you at the Saratoga meeting.' He looked at me and said: 'Do you mean that?' and then he grabbed me by my hand nearest to him and pulled me over toward him. He hurt me so that I tried to pull away, but I could not get away from him. He said: 'If you don't come over there and I have to wait until the Saratoga meeting, I may never see you again. My horses have gone back on me. I've lost all that money. Now I'm losing my little girl; do you mean that?' He grabbed me and hurt me so badly that the tears came to my eyes. I tried to struggle away from him again, and had to bend away over. There was a flash—the end. I had not seen the pistol. Mr. Young fell over my lap; got half way up, fell again, and I thought he was having a spasm. He kept twitching and twitching. I called to him and tried to make him answer, but he wouldn't. I believe I put my hand up and told the cabman to drive to the drugist. I don't know whether I did. That was my idea, and it seemed—Oh! ages before I could get any one to pay any attention to me and help me."

"Did you or did you not shoot Caesar Young, Nan?" asked Lawyer Levy.
"I did not," replied the witness in a firm voice. "I would give my own life to bring him back if it were in my power. I never saw the revolver with which he was shot."

PANAMA CANAL DIGGERS

Why Senator Dietrich Would Employ Convict Laborers.

NOT A MONEY MAKING SCHEME.

He Believes It Will Be Hard to Raise
Army of Workmen Required For the Task and Would Utilize Able-bodied Convicts—Work Will Benefit
Prisoners Themselves, He Claims.

The employment of convict labor under certain restrictive conditions to cut the isthmian canal is a project on which Senator Charles H. Dietrich of Nebraska has some very pronounced views, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Post. He may use these as the basis for at least a piece of tentative legislation in the coming session.

"One of the important problems in the construction of the Panama canal is the employment of labor," he said the other day to a friend. "Another is the building of the canal with the least possible loss of life. Modern methods will undoubtedly solve the latter, and I believe the employment of convict labor would help to solve the former."

"An army of 30,000 or 40,000 laborers would not be hard to raise. The difficulty would be in its selection and in the improvement of the condition of the canal region. Trade unions have memorialized the government to build the canal with union labor, and other organizations have sent to Washington the more liberal prayer that only American labor be employed. Laudable and patriotic as these requests are, it is doubtful if the canal could be built entirely under either plan. In the first place, it is questionable whether the trade unions of the United States can produce enough laboring men to carry on the work. In the second place, because of the fact that unemployed labor of any kind is today a comparatively scarce quantity in America, it would be difficult, if not impossible, to recruit the entire army in the States."

"In the state, federal, military and naval prisons of the United States are confined approximately 50,000 men, of whom 25,000 are idle or are employed at contract labor. The others are employed on government account at duties incidental to the care and maintenance of their places of confinement. Probably not more than half of the total number of prisoners are able-bodied. Drawing the line of physical disability still further, probably 25 per cent are able to withstand the adverse conditions of a tropical climate. In the Louisiana penitentiary it was found that 25 per cent of the prisoners were physically able to perform work in the southernmost swamps of that state, where they were successfully employed in building levees under the most adverse conditions prevailing anywhere in the United States. Taking these figures as a basis, it is estimated that upward of 10,000 prisoners would be available for employment on the canal."

"Would your idea be purely the saving of money?" the senator was asked.
"By no means," he answered. "It would be in the interest of humanity quite as much. There always have been and always will be serious objections to the confinement without employment of persons who have violated the law. Our prison stockades are a safeguard to society, but they are of little value in the way of improving the morals of those confined within them. The system is particularly bad where persons are confined without anything to do, a condition due sometimes to local objections to the employment of convict labor either under contract or on government account. In manufactures the competition between convict labor and legitimate American labor may be unfair for the reason that convict labor can be more cheaply performed, especially if compulsory. To the use of such labor there are also economic objections. Jobbery in the letting of contracts alone has tended to bring the system into disrepute."

"But the foregoing objections do not hold in the employment of our prisoners under military control in the construction of the Panama canal and other government works. Such a practice would be consistent with good judgment and not inconsistent with a fair and wise industrial policy. It would provide employment for our prisoners of a character in no way conflicting with skilled labor and, temporarily at least, would solve the problem of competition between elective and penal labor. With such labor available the government could undoubtedly undertake projects which could not otherwise be attempted."

"Your notion would be, of course, that the convicts would derive physical benefit from this little excursion into comparative freedom?"
"The benefit would accrue not merely to a convict's body, but to his mind, morals and estate as well. I need hardly remind you that our laws, policies and methods of dealing with criminals result, so far as the offenders themselves are concerned, in destroying rather than inspiring courage and self respect. Persons are cast into prison for a term of years and then, after all their helpful social relations have passed away, are turned out into the world practically penniless and with blighted hopes. Imprisonment necessarily reduces mental and physical energy, and the condition of the released convict is therefore all the more deserving of studious consideration. Confinement without employment is obviously bad for the prisoner in every way. Statistics show that a considerable proportion of such prisoners go insane before the expiration of their sentences. My plan is to obviate this condition of affairs."

"I am confident that the national government by the use of modern and scientific methods will be able to establish sanitary conditions on the canal zone which will make it fully as healthful as the lowlands of the southern states, where our native labor has been successfully employed."

"It has been said by eminent authority that persons should not be employed to remain continuously on the isthmus longer than a period of from six to twelve months. This may be a wise and necessary precaution, and it is an arrangement that can easily be accomplished. The establishment of a nearby station where laborers can be sent to recuperate has been suggested."

"This, would mean, of course, an amendment of existing law."

"Certainly. In order to carry into effect the plan I have outlined for the use of convict labor in the building of the Panama canal, the enactment of new laws, both state and federal, would be necessary. Every able-bodied convict should be given the option of going or staying, but for those who choose to go a scale of commutation based upon their terms of sentence and periods of labor should be arranged. For illustration, a convict sentenced to a certain number of years would have as much time deducted from his term of service as he serves on the canal, conditioned upon his good behavior. If his term is ten years, he would be released at the end of five years' service; if he serves less than half his term on the zone and is then forced to return to his place of confinement because of failure in health or other reasons, his sentence would be reduced a time equal to that given to the work. Under such a plan if a man sentenced to ten years' confinement gave four years' service and then returned, his whole term would be reduced eight years, leaving two to serve. Life prisoners might be discharged at the end of ten years' service. An equitable plan could easily be devised, and it might be advantageous to allow even more liberal commutation of sentence."

"Would you pay anything to the convicts who consented to go to the isthmus and work for the government?"
"Yes. They would have to be transported free to and from the zone, and an allowance should be made for their services. A fair rate of compensation would be, say, 25 cents a day for each day's actual work performed, 50 per cent of the sum to be paid to the prisoner in cash on landing in the United States or that discharge, the remaining half to be paid in two equal installments at the expiration of three and six months respectively after discharge. The last two installments might be made conditional on a convict's not having been arrested or convicted of any misdemeanor between the time of discharge and the dates of payment. Such a plan would be an inducement to prisoners to engage in the work, and the pay allowed would give them a good cash fund with which to begin life anew after their liberation. It would enable them to seek honest employment and not resort, as statistics show that many of them do, to crime immediately after their discharge."

"Serious objections might be made to the employment of convicts in government works were it compulsory. It should be expressly provided that only when volunteered could the services of prisoners be accepted, and then only after an examination as to physical ability. Under military supervision prisoners could be well cared for on the isthmus, and the percentage of escapes would be no larger than now."

Big Flowers a Paris Fad.

Flowers, always the most favored adjunct of ball costumes, are made this year in strange colors and gigantic sizes, says a Paris cable dispatch to the New York Herald. Pale blue, purple and brown roses are seen. Colors are chosen to harmonize with the toilet. The flowers are worn well over the forehead. These immense flowers also make an admirable decoration for the bodice. Some women wear three circular rose wreaths tied with a large satin bow. Large wreaths are also placed in the center of the corsage and others near the arms.

Uncle Sam to Sir Edward Clarke.

At the annual Thanksgiving banquet of the American Society in London Sir Edward Clarke referred to the presumption of the people of the United States in calling themselves "Americans." Great Britain, he said, was territorially the largest power on the American continent, and he suggested that "America" would be a more appropriate name than America as applied to the United States.

So you think we're rather overstepped the mark.

Sir Edward Clarke: Wake up and look again; you're in the dark.

If you think we're not the ones who rule the world, in fact, the very root and trunk and branch.

You're away behind the date: It has been your sorry fate To be buried in a mark's avalanche.

Edward Clarke: You say we've got our clothes too big to fit.

Sir Edward Clarke: But don't you let that trouble you a bit.

Sir Edward Clarke: Your friends or usona doesn't ring To the stirring tune that we have learned to sing.

We're Americans, no less And no more, and we'll confess That we feel quite highfalutin, too, by Jingo.

Edward Clarke: It looks as if you'd launched a little bark, Sir Edward Clarke.

And started on a new hunt for the snark, Sir Edward Clarke.

Don't imagine that we're mad. You make us smile.

And will say to you without reserve or guile That, although we represent Less than half a continent, We will take the rest when it is worth our while.

Edward Clarke: We'll take the rest when it is worth our while.

E. E. Kiser in Chicago Record-Herald.

SAID GOOD NIGHT

Then Shot Himself on Porch But Girl Says It Was Purely Accidental.

Marysville, O., Dec. 20.—Dudley Wright, a prominent young man of Millford Center, called upon Miss Stella Stillings, to whom he had been attentive. After bidding her good night he shot himself in the breast and fell on the porch suffering from a dangerous wound. Miss Stillings says the shooting was accidental. Both are young society people.

MEMBERSHIP

Of Churches Increasing More Rapidly Than the Population.

New York, Dec. 20.—Nearly all religious sects, as their figures of growth for last year are announced, show a larger percentage of increase than in previous years. In several denominations the ratio of growth exceeds the usual ratio of increase in the population. This is notably the case in the Episcopal church, which last year gained 3 per cent on its membership of the previous year, while the population growth is estimated at about 2 per cent. In the Presbyterian church the increase in membership last year was at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent. The ratio of gain by the Methodist membership was 1 4/5 per cent, or almost as much as the estimated ratio of population growth.

It is stated in the Presbyterian handbook for 1905 that the religions of the world have 1,430,300,000 adherents, divided as follows: Christianity, 477,080,158; Confucianism, 256,000,000; Hinduism, 190,000,000; Mohammedanism, 176,334,372; Buddhism, 147,900,000; Taoism and Shintoism, 57,000,000; Judaism, 7,056,000, and various health faiths, 118,129,479.

HIS DOUBLE

Is Always at His Side—Novak Believes Himself Two Egos In One—A Puzzle.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 20.—At the City Hospital is a man who is puzzling the psychologists. His name is John Novak, and he considers himself dual in nature. The idea of "two" seems to be in his mind when anything is offered him as if he thinks himself two persons, and therefore requires a double portion, or as if he feels there is an unseen personality closely related to him near by, for whom he must provide and whose companionship he craves. He often refuses to go to sleep until he believes this second person is with him, and he demands a vacant place beside his own at the table.

When offered a glass of water or a dish of food he cries: "No, not two." But when the glasses of water or dishes of food are given him he invariably drinks or eats but the one. As the physicians at the hospital say, "he does things double."

He does not, however, demand a double supply of wearing apparel.

According to one of the physicians at the hospital, Novak was born in Bohemia 40 years ago. His twin brother died shortly after being born, and it is thought that by some strange psychological phenomenon he imagines his brother to be always present.

TEACHERS PAID

For Attending Institute Last Summer—Action Ratified By the Board.

Mr. David Keller, president of the Board of Education, stated Tuesday morning that the teachers of Newark had all been paid for attending the County Teachers' Institute. He did not know this until Monday night, subsequent to the interview which appeared in the Advocate last week on this subject.

When Mr. Keller went to the World's Fair he signed a number of checks in blank as president, and when Secretary Haight filled them in he added to the salary of each teacher who had attended the Institute five days' pay at the regular per diem rate. There was no action taken by the board on the subject but it came up at Monday night's meeting and Mr. Haight's action was ratified.

LONG LOST GIRL

Found in Far West By Her Father After Fifteen Year's Search—She Was Kidnapped.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 20.—After 15 years' search James B. McDonald of Cincinnati, has found in a forest, at Twisp, Oganogan county, many miles from the railroads, his 19-year-old daughter, Lillie McDonald, who was kidnapped by two rough-looking men on June 10, 1889, while she was playing near her home at Plainfield, N. J.

The kidnapping of Lillie broke up McDonald's home within a year. Mrs. McDonald died in Orange, N. J., from a broken heart. McDonald moved to Dayton, O., and later to Cincinnati. He spent a fortune in his efforts to recover the child, who was found last week as the adopted daughter of Mrs. Mary L. McCabe, formerly a nurse at Bellefontaine, O., where Mrs. McCabe found her nine years ago.

A merchant in Bellefontaine in moderate circumstances confessed to Mrs. McCabe just before dying with typhoid fever, that he and another man had kidnapped her six years previously; that he had reformed and accumulated some money. He had always treated the girl well.

Mrs. McCabe adopted the girl and told to friends the story of her abduction, and finally it reached the ears of McDonald. Only three months ago he secured the first definite clue, which brought him to this state and resulted in uniting father and daughter. Until last week neither Mrs. McCabe nor Lillie ever knew the name of her parents. Mrs. McCabe will give up her homestead and accompany McDonald to Cincinnati.
